ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An anti-corrosion shower head used in a dry etching tool comprises an aluminum base and a ceramic plate embedded in the aluminum base, wherein the ceramic plate has a number of gas holes to spray the etching gas. An oxalic acid is used for electroplating the shower head, and also the aluminum part on the rear side of the ceramic plate or engineering polymer plate is hollowed.

* * * * *